Dear Sir/Madam,

My name is Li Jin, a student at Chenguang Middle School. I am writing to provide some suggestions for the website renovations of the international department of our school.

First of all, I would like to express my appreciation for the current website, which provides valuable information about our school and the international department's activities. However, I believe that there is room for improvement to make it more interactive and engaging for students from both China and other countries. I hope to create a community forum where Chinese and international students can exchange ideas, share experiences, and foster friendships. In addition, I suggest setting up a section dedicated to introducing Chinese culture. Not only will it enhance the appreciation and understanding of Chinese culture but also it's helpful to develop a sense of pride and identity among Chinese students.

I hope my suggestions will be taken into consideration and I am eager to see our website become a vibrant hub for students from all over the world.

Thank you for your attention.

Yours sincerely,

Li Jin

Dear Jim,

How is everything going? I am writing to share with you the Chinese model in my heart.

The person I respect most is Tu Youyou, a remarkable scientist who was awarded the Nobel Prize for Physiology. Tu Youyou and her team devoted a significant amount of time and energy to the discovery of Artemisinin, a drug that has saved lives of millions of malaria patients.

I admire her not only for her achievements in Chinese medicine, but also for her mental strength. She displayed great determination and persistence throughout her research. Facing many challenges and failures, Tu Youyou and her team never admitted defeat and eventually succeeded. Besides, she was very responsible and committed. Tu Youyou and her team even tested Artemisinin on themselves to make sure that it was safe. Their spirit inspires me to move forward and be a kind and selfless person.

I'd like to know about your role model. Looking forward to your early reply.

Yours,

Li Jin
